

K-LOVE radio station is a great service to me in my local community of Boulder, COlorado. This is not unlike the National Network of Broadcasters. It connects me on a National basis in what is my interest and worthy news items. It covers the breath of the national news. A local station does not have the resources nor the interest to provide this indepth national coverage. This station fills a gap in the local radio programming. This public service promotes American values and community values. I would view any changes in the regulations as being a direct attempt to block free speech and religious freedom.
